How to Create a

Google Scholar

Profile

Introduction

- Google Scholar is a special search engine powered by Google
- It assists in searching only the academic part of the web.
- It is accessed by visiting <https://scholar.google.com>

Why Google scholar

- Allows creation of Individual Profile for researchers.
- A profile assists in discovery of the full-text of your works.
- Full texts increase your citations as an author.
- Profile displays your citation metrics (h-index and h-10 index)
- Serves as your quick Academic CV for presentations in grants and promotions.

Open browser of your choice e.g. Chrome, Firefox, edge, opera ... and search “google scholar” and select on the results Google Scholar or use the link <https://scholar.google.com>

The screenshot shows a Google search interface. The search bar contains the text "google scholar". Below the search bar, there are navigation options: "All", "Books", "Images", "Videos", "News", and "More". The search results show "About 367,000,000 results (0.43 seconds)". The first result is for "https://scholar.google.com" with the title "Google Scholar". A yellow arrow points to this result. The description for this result states: "Google Scholar provides a simple way to broadly search for scholarly literature. Search across a wide variety of disciplines and sources: articles, theses, ... You've visited this page many times. Last visit: 2/21/22". Below the description are links for "Search Tips", "Profiles", "About", and "Inclusion Guidelines". At the bottom of the search results, there is a breadcrumb trail: "https://libraries.catholic.edu > research-help > how-do-i". On the right side of the screenshot, there is a preview of the Google Scholar website, showing the Google Scholar logo and the text "Google Scholar is a freely accessible web search engine that indexes the full text or metadata of scholarly literature across an array of publishing formats and disciplines. Wikipedia". Below the preview, it says "Owner: Google", "Date launched: 20 November 2004", and "Created by: Alex Verstak".

The screenshot shows the Google Scholar settings interface. On the left, a navigation menu includes 'Profile', 'Articles', and 'Settings' (highlighted with a blue circle containing the number 3). The main content area is titled 'Article updates' and includes the text 'Scholar automatically finds your new articles and changes to existing articles.' Below this, there are two radio button options: 'Apply updates automatically' (which is selected) and 'Email me updates for review'. A large yellow arrow points to the 'Apply updates automatically' radio button. Below the 'Article updates' section is the 'Profile visibility' section, which includes the text 'Public profiles help your peers find and follow your work. They also come with a personalized reading list.' and a checked checkbox for 'Make my profile public'. At the bottom of the settings area is a blue 'Done' button.
